Birmingham-Southern College	In light of the continued spread of COVID-19 across our country as well as our home state, and in light of the many disruptions to day-to-day living in an attempt to curb this spread, we have decided to cancel on-campus classes effective immediately. The faculty will work the next two weeks to prepare their online curriculum. Residential students should now depart campus as soon as they are reasonably able to do so, with expected departure by 5 p.m. Monday, March 16. Please take all academic-related items (books, etc.) with you at this time, in case you are not able to come back to campus before March 30. At this point in time, we don't know. We will continue to monitor the ever-evolving COVID-19 and will be sure to notify you once campus reopens. We understand that things are a bit chaotic in life for everyone right now. Miles College	MILES COLLEGE CAMPUS ACTION PLAN FOR THE CORONAVIRUS FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS [Rev. 3/23/20] 1. IS THE CAMPUS CLOSED? In compliance with the Jefferson County Health Department, the Miles College physical campus is closed until April 6, 2020, at which time, the health department will decide about businesses re-opening. 2. WILL I RECEIVE A REFUND FOR MY MEAL and HOUSING PLAN?

As a result of the COVID-19 Pandemic, for the spring semester 2020, the College will make adjustments to student accounts for the Meal Plan and Housing charges. The College will utilize the following steps for issuing adjustments, refunds and/or credits to the student's account.

- MEAL PLAN - We will calculate a pro-rated amount of unused meal plan charges per student for the spring 2020 semester. The pro-rated amount will extend through the last day of class for the academic spring semester (May 6, 2020).
- HOUSING FEE - We will calculate a pro-rated amount of housing charges based on the last day a student occupied the residence halls.

Please note the following:

- If a student currently has an outstanding balance on his/her account, we will offset the pro-rated room and housing charges against the amount that is still outstanding. There is a possibility that the adjusted amount will not clear the student's balance due. Therefore, no refund will be issued to the student.
- We will enforce our Institutional Aid Policy. If a student received institutional aid (academic, sport, band, etc.) from the College in order to cover the direct cost of attendance, he/she would not be eligible to get a refund. The institutional aid amount awarded to the student for attending the spring semester, 2020, will be adjusted accordingly.
- For students who a) have a bill that was cleared by an external sponsored scholarships, b) did not receive institutional aid to cover the direct cost of attendance, and c) are not a graduating senior the College will place a credit on your account from the spring semester that will become a part of your aid package for the summer 2020 or the academic year 2020-2021.
- If funds are due to the student, a refund will be issued by check or direct deposit, when the campus resumes business operations.

3. HOW WILL THIS IMPACT GRADUATING SENIORS?

- COMMENCEMENT– The commencement and other senior activities have not been canceled. The campus administration will make a determination about the date of the commencement exercises and share that information as soon as the decision is made.
- SENIOR FEES – At this point, no fees will be refunded as the commencement program, and senior activities will be postponed to a later date.
- EXIT EXAMS – All exit exams for Seniors will be offered online. Please contact your department chair for exit exam dates for students eligible to take the exam for the first time or as a re-take.

Spring Hill College	With just a few days before students begin their online learning, it's become apparent that we need to extend this format. Therefore Spring Hill College's remote learning will start on Monday, March 30 and continue through the end of classes in May. This decision was made after continuous discussions with College administration as well as with health experts in Alabama and along the Gulf Coast. It's not the outcome any of us wanted, but given that the COVID-19 pandemic continues, it's a decision that was made with everyone's welfare at heart. Also in consideration is the best timeframe to possibly suspend our work-from-home situation for faculty and staff. This announcement comes with other changes. They include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Revised Academic Calendar: The Task Force for Instructional Learning is providing all students with new recommendations to accommodate online learning needs. An updated academic calendar will also be shared, which includes a later deadline to withdraw from a course with no penalty and an option to convert grades to pass/fail that extends beyond general electives to include the core. Details and explanations on these calendar and policy revisions will follow today from the Office of Academic Affairs. • Housing Move-Out: Student Affairs is reviewing the best possible planning for student move-out and will include options for dates and times. You will get complete details today from your Residence Assistant and Residence Life. • Room and Board: We are working on a fair and equitable plan for room and board fees. • Summer and Fall Registration: Summer Courses, which are entirely online, and traditional Fall 2020 registrations are both now open. • Commencement: The ceremony will take place, but not on May 9. We are gathering ideas on the best timing for a new date, keeping in mind the determination to have our Seniors walk down the Avenue of the Oaks. Diplomas will be sent out in mid-July. • Honors Convocation and other Commencement events: We still plan to honor our student and departmental achievements as well as find a way to include other traditional Commencement events. Details to come. • FAQs: Academic Affairs, Residence Life and the Finance office are developing Frequently Asked Questions for their specific functions and will share. 	https://www.shc.edu/news-and-events/covid-19-updates/

Stillman College	The changes that Stillman College has implemented in response to the appearance of COVID-19 in the State of Alabama place the College in compliance with the Order issued by the State Health Officer of Alabama, Scott Harris, M.D. today, March 19, 2020. Therefore, all students, faculty, and staff, should be aware that the following guidelines issued by Stillman College on Wednesday, March 18, 2020, ensure social distancing as directed by the State Health Officer today. <ul style="list-style-type: none">• All instruction will be completed online or through digital means. We will not meet in any classrooms or congregate in any groups that violate the State ordinance for social distancing. All meetings will be held using teleconferencing software.• Faculty may work from home or in their offices, as needed, but will follow all guidelines as stated in the State ordinance.• The Dining Hall will not serve any meals to be consumed in the cafeteria and students will enter on a staggered schedule to maintain social distancing as they retrieve their meals.• All staff who are able to telecommute to complete their work tasks will be able to do so as assigned and approved by their immediate supervisors.• Any staff or who must come to campus to complete their tasks will do so on a staggered schedule approved by their immediate supervisor.• The Business Office and Financial Aid offices remain available by email or On March 26, 2020, the Governor of the State of Alabama and the Mayor of Tuscaloosa, AL issued statements announcing ordinances to shelter in place. In Tuscaloosa, the Mayor's order includes a curfew beginning March 28, 2020, at 10:00 p.m. and continuing until April 11, 2020. In addition, many major metropolitan areas, such as Birmingham, AL, New Orleans, LA, parts of Metro Atlanta, GA and others have issued their own shelter in place orders to their citizens. In light of these developments, Stillman College is asking that all students who are in cities or counties in the State of Alabama or in another state where a shelter in place order is in effect remain in their home until that order has been lifted and they have been medically cleared by a Coronavirus test that is negative. We understand that this may mean that some students who planned to return and use campus computers to complete their online studies will face challenges caused by a lack of access to a computer or to reliable internet service in their homes. Any student who is faced with this challenge should respond to the survey questions sent by Stillman College Student Life that ask about computer and internet access and should contact Marcus Kennedy at mkennedy@stillman.edu, Dean of Student Life as soon as possible. The	https://stillman.edu/coronavirus-stillman-response/

	College is making arrangements to respond to this need as soon as we are able to gauge the level and extent of the need. If you are in these cities you will have to communication and schedule your check out for after April. Students currently on campus and at University Downs and The Grand Apartments please practice social distancing, and adhere to the no visitation policy. The Meal Pick-up schedule will continue as scheduled. Shuttle service will continue to operate for students in apartments at University Downs and The Grand Apartments. Even with all that we are doing to respond to the needs of our students, if a student is unable to complete their coursework in this semester, they should communicate with their professors or Dean Tasha Washington in the Academic Success Center (twashington@stillman.edu), in order to receive further guidance and academic advice.
Talladega College	All face-to-face classes will be suspended by Friday, March 20, 2020. Students will not return to campus after March 20 without securing approval from the Vice President of Student Affairs. Online course instruction will begin March 30, 2020, and will be provided throughout the remainder of the spring semester. Only students with extenuating circumstances who have contacted the College's Student Affairs Department to arrange for accommodations will remain in the residence halls after March 20. The College has established the Student Care Emergency Assistance Fund (SCEAF) to provide relief for students facing financial hardships as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic. Contributions will assist students with travel expenses related to returning home; housing and food insecurity; technology required to access virtual learning; and lost wages due to coronavirus-related closings. At this time, faculty and staff are scheduled to return to campus on April 6, 2020 and commencement is scheduled for May 3, 2020. The College will continue to maintain contact with local, state and federal health authorities and keep students, faculty, staff, parents and alumni apprised of any changes or updates.	http://talladega.brinkster.net/joomla25/Talladega_College_Campus_Closing_for_Two_Weeks.pdf
Tuskegee University	On Monday, March 23, the university will transition completely to online/virtual instruction for the remainder of the semester. Faculty have been participating in training this week to move from inperson to electronic instruction — relying on the Blackboard platform to which our students are already accustomed. Naturally, with that comes a host of situations unique to our professional, internship, clinical and graduate programs, and our academic leadership in those areas are now exploring those on a course-by-course basis. We anticipate administering final exams through Blackboard or other forms of online/virtual technology. Again, the means of doing so will be determined on a course-by-course basis, but we do expect those to be administered within the timeframes outlined in our academic calendar. If adjustments are required, they will be announced to students in a timely manner.	https://www.tuskegee.edu/coronavirus-resources

Students experiencing issues during this online/virtual instruction period are asked to contact their instructors directly with concerns or bring those concerns to the attention of their respective department head or dean.

We continue to review our academic calendar with an eye for upcoming deadlines — many of which may have required students to address a matter in person on campus. This includes the upcoming English Proficiency Exam, registering for upcoming semesters, and similar academic requirements. Alternate means of meeting those deadlines remotely will be identified and communicated to students.

As we focus on meeting our students' academic needs, we also seek alternatives to their on-campus experience. That means identifying ways of keeping them engaged with the university and with each other — even at a distance — through virtual connections that meet their social, emotional and co- curricular interests.

On-campus residency

After initially attempting to accommodate the residential needs of students returning from spring break, our Division of Student Affairs determined on Monday, March 16, that it is in our students' best interests to not return to campus to reside.

The university will grant exceptions to that policy in certain situations: a student's lack of an alternate residence, a student's lack of the computing technologies required of online/virtual instruction at his or her alternate residence, or an academic or employment hardship that requires a student to reside on campus. Students wishing to apply for an exception should complete and submit the Housing Exception Application — available for download at www.tuskegee.edu/coronavirus — by week's end. Students who do end up remaining on campus will be consolidated into two residence halls and will receive essential services, including counseling, disability services, dining and student health services.

We recognize that some students who went home for spring break may not be able to return to campus to obtain their belongings from their residence hall rooms. Students and their families must arrange to obtain their belongings from the residence halls by May 2, 2020. Those arrangements can be made by contacting our Office of Housing & Residence Life at 334.724.4100 or 334.421.8384, or by emailing housing@tuskegee.edu.

In the meantime, please note that students' personal belongings remain secured in our residence halls and are not at risk of being packed up or moved without their knowledge.

At this time, the university expects to maintain normal operating hours so that it can serve the continuing needs of our students. That may require staggering our staffing or allowing some teleworking as employees also grapple with the personal challenges of the pandemic's effects on their families and their families' health. Supervisors are working with their teams and the university's leadership to ensure continued business continuity, but please understand that additional patience will be required during this time of leaner staffing. Financial aid policies Our Office of Student Financial Services continues to receive updates from the U.S. Department of Education on the continuance of federal financial aid, compensating students in work-study programs, and any changes to the process or deadlines to securing future financial aid. When we have greater clarity on those matters, we will share updates with you.

Student financial matters

Many students and parents have inquired about the university's policies regarding the refund or rebate of tuition, room and board, and related fees. Tuskegee University will follow its written refund policy regarding prorating of room and board fees and will review each student's account on a case-by-case basis. Please contact the Bursar's Office at 334.727.8538 for inquiries about this matter.

University events

As you know, all university events have been cancelled through April 30 — a prudent decision considering the CDC's guidance that in-person gatherings now be limited to five or fewer people. Guidance we are receiving from the Alabama Department of Public Health indicates that the pandemic may not reach its peak in the state until May.

As such, commencement will be postponed as our leadership continues to explore options to provide our pending graduates with the most authentic and memorable graduation experience possible. Rest assured that students scheduled to graduate will receive proper documentation of their achievement through transcripts and a mailed diploma so they can — without obstacle — transition from their current studies to the next phase of their professional or academic journey. The Registrar's Office will contact all qualifying graduates with more information — including graduation clearance procedures — when that information is available.

Students will receive information about summer and fall registration and on-campus housing for fall semester in the coming week. Summer instruction will continue with the practice of online/virtual instruction, and on-campus summer enrichment and outreach programs will be postponed. Based on decisions by the U.S. State Department and guidance by the CDC, the university is also canceling all study abroad programs for the summer.

University of Mobile	On my direction, the University of Mobile extended spring break through Friday, March 20 and transitioned to online course assignments beginning Monday, March 23. I promised, in my earlier statement, to reevaluate the situation on or before April 3. While my hope was to resume our normal academic and campus life schedule on April 6, the rapidly evolving situation, coupled with guidelines presented by federal and state agencies, have forced the leadership team to take additional steps. The following actions and guidelines are effective immediately: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Online course delivery will be extended through the end of the spring semester. All on-ground courses as well as campus activities are suspended through May 10. 2. Although it appears unlikely that the on-campus spring commencement ceremony will be held as currently scheduled, we will postpone a final decision until we receive additional information regarding federal and state guidelines regarding gatherings. If the spring commencement is postponed, degrees will be conferred to students who meet graduation eligibility. The diplomas will be mailed to students. We would then have a December 12 commencement service on the lawn. All 2020 spring graduates will be encouraged to participate in this ceremony. All spring academic awards will be presented at this service. 3. Residential students should wait to receive authorization before returning to campus to checkout. To comply with social distancing guidelines, the checkout process will be staggered based on residence halls. Residential students will be contacted. 4. The university business office will send additional information regarding student account adjustments for room and board as soon as possible. 5. The Fall 2020 schedule is now viewable on MyUM and the Summer 2020 schedule will be posted soon. Registration will begin on Monday, March 30. Students should contact their advisors with any questions. 	https://umobile.edu/coronavirus/
United States Sports Academy	All of the degree course offerings of the United States Sports Academy are available online or can be serviced remotely as is the case with certain readings requirements in the doctoral program. Therefore, as a student of the institution, you should be able to continue your program of study toward your degree uninterrupted by the current health emergency created by the outbreak of Covid19. None-the-less, the Academy administration is closely monitoring the ongoing Covid19 situation. As conditions continually evolve, the priority of the Academy remains the health, safety, and well-being of our Academy community both on and off campus. We encourage you to follow the recommendations of your local health authorities as it relates to your personal safety.

	For those students whose educational program is interrupted by the current situation as may be in the case for certain mentorship situations, or if you are experiencing COVID-19 symptoms, or have been diagnosed with the virus, please notify your faculty advisor immediately with the details so we can help you as it relates to your situation and educational program.
South University – Montgomery	Starting April 4, South University, will continue to offer a new modality, now called SouthVR (South-Virtual Remote) for the Spring quarter, in which all campus-based courses will be adapted to a convenient virtual classroom setting. Our new SouthVR temporary learning format was created to help our students continue their education during the COVID-19 pandemic. This format will differ from both campus and online classes by offering live scheduled instruction in a remote environment. SouthVR will be a temporary educational format that will be offered until authorities advise us that it is safe to return to our campus-based learning.	https://www.southuniversity.edu/montgomery
